

ACCIDENT PREVENTION TEST

Good driving habits and paying attention every second you are behind the wheel will help greatly on preventing accidents from happening. Types of accidents the causes and possible preventions for accidents are listed below.

Type of Accident	Cause	Prevention
Rear end collision	Following too close
	Distraction-taking eyes off road
	Aggressive driving
	Road Rage
Backing	Not knowing what's behind you or thinking you know what's behind you when you back up
Right turn	Allowing enough room for a car to get between you and curb
Left turn	Going out side your turn lane and hitting another vehicle
Right lane change	Having a vehicle beside you in the right lane as you change lanes
	Not using right turn indicator
Left lane change	Having a vehicle beside you in the left lane as you change lanes
	Not using left turn indicator
Head on collision	On-coming traffic going into your lane
	Going into the lane of on-coming traffic
	Falling asleep

Collision at intersections	Driving too fast
	Not anticipating light changing
	Not watching other traffic coming to the intersection
Side swipe	Going out of your lane into on coming or passing traffic
	The other vehicle coming into your lane and hitting you
Rollover	Going off the road
	Driving too fast around curves or turns
	Driving on unleveled surface
	Falling asleep
	Load shift
Topped trailer	Going under an object that is too low for trailer to clear
Hitting a fixed object	Not know or not maneuvering past a fixed object
	An animal runs onto the road or is standing on the road
Hitting an animal		